Overview

A new statutory procedure has been introduced for the giving of notice of fitness and probity investigations. Where the CBI decides to investigate an individual's fitness and probity to perform a CF, it will notify the individual in writing by serving a Notice of Investigation. This must be done as soon as practicable after the decision is made to. The CBI can now investigate an individual who previously performed a CF role. However, they must have performed that role within the shorter of the following periods: (a) the period since 19 April 2023, and (b) the six years before the date on which an investigation is commenced. Where a person is, or has been, the subject of an investigation, the CBI may issue a Suspension Notice. This is a temporary, interim measure whereby the suspended person may not perform a CF, part of a CF or any CF in contravention of a Suspension Notice while the Notice is in effect. Suspension Notices confirmed by the CBI may now be appealed to t. The procedure for investigation reports has also changed to provide for the preparation and service of a draft report of the investigation followed by a final report. When an investigation is completed, the CBI will consider any relevant information gathered or received during the investigation and prepare a draft report as soon as practicable. The CBI may discontinue an investigation with written notice at any point for various reasons, including: 1. CBI is no longer of the view that there is reason to suspect an individual's fitness and probity to perform the relevant CF, 2. CBI is no longer of the view that any reason to suspect the individual's fitness and probity to perform the relev.
