

No-equipment fiber optic splicing

Overview

Mechanical splicing is a method of connecting two optical fibers without using heat or a fusion machine. The goal is to achieve the lowest possible optical loss (signal). There are the two types of fiber optics splicing : fusion splicing and mechanical splicing. What is Fiber Optic Splicing and Why is it Needed?

- #1. Use and Maintain Your. Fiber Optic Cable is a form of modern network cable that has a far greater capacity than electrical communication connections. optical fibers are made comprised of exceedingly tiny strands of glass or plastic and these cables transfer information between two sites using completely optical. In this guide, we'll walk you through exactly how to splice fiber without a fusion splicer, covering the tools you need, the step-by-step process, performance specs, and common mistakes to avoid.
